

Mary wins top award

THE managing director of First ScotRail has won Quality Scotland's Leadership Award for 2008.

Mary Grant was recognised for the transformation of the rail franchise under her stewardship.

She said: "This award is a tribute to all in the First ScotRail team in improving performance.

"We will continue to use the EFQM model to achieve further gains in the field of business excellence."

Dave Bradley, chief operating officer of Quality Scotland, said: "The winner of this award not only has to display exceptional leadership skills but also be seen to be embracing the principles of excellence within their organisation. Mary encompasses all of these."
